

PARK CITY MEN UNDER ARREST

Six Are Charged With Having Taken Part in Escorting
Linemen Out of Town.

HEARINGS THIS FORENOON BOISE JURISDICTION REPORTED TO BE COMPLETELY OUT.

Six men are under arrest in Park City, charged with having taken part in the affair last Wednesday night, when two union linemen in the employ of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company were escorted out of town; these two men were working in the places of linemen who are now on strike. The hearing of the six men will take place this forenoon at 10 o'clock.

The Louis Lynn, district president of the Brotherhood, returned from Park City, where he investigated conditions. Mr. Lynn said:

Warrants for Ten.

"The Bell company caused warrants to be sworn out for ten men. As I understand it, warrants were issued on two and the other four took it for granted that they were under arrest. The remaining four were not served. I am told that some of the men who have been placed under arrest were on the night shift in the mines on Wednesday night and consequently could not have been with the crowd.

"The two men who were requested to leave town, I understand, went to Heber City, where on Friday night they were denied admission at a dance. They have been brought back to Park City as witnesses in the hearings, which will take place this forenoon.

Will Test Law.

"Council has been engaged by the men and the probabilities are that, if necessary, a test case will be made in regard to the constitutionality of the law passed last winter, known as house bill No. 286. This measure, as you know, makes it mandatory on the sheriff to prevent any interference of whatsoever nature with men who seek to take strikers' places. It is the belief of some of the best lawyers that the law will not hold water.

"Everything is quiet in Park City. I was given assurance of moral support for our cause. Tomorrow we will request the citizens of Park City to order their telephones taken out, and I have reason to believe that our request will be complied with.

"We had word today from Boise that that jurisdiction has gone out solidly. Boise was the first to go, and the action of the men there seems up to the entire district. Butte is not out, but if it becomes necessary to call them out, I know that they will come.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Boise Is Out.

(Special to The Herald.)
Boise, Idaho, June 2.—The members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in the employ of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company in this vicinity are all out. They have been called out by the district council at Salt Lake, pending settlement of the wage question. The Boise local has a wage scale in the hands of the council, which also has the scales of other locals in charge. These scales propose advances of from 25 to 50 cents a day. Pending adjustment the district council has called out the men in this jurisdiction, including the four states of Utah, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho.

So far as known here, Butte is the only local not out. The local was looking for a call out at this time, but it was received yesterday and they all quit. The men under the contract for the week will set all points in the west end of the state like likewise gone out.

UNIVERSITY'S FIELD DAY

Great Crowd Expected to Attend Exercises at Saltair on Saturday.

The university annual field day will be held at Saltair next Saturday. The conflict for this date has been adjusted and the excursion will take place. A special program of dances and events will be arranged for the students. This is one of the big days of the year for the university and a large crowd of students and their friends are expected at the resort. The members of the graduating class will meet there for the last time when the class will be together. The members of the Alumni association who are in town for the week will be present.

CADETS WIN HONORS.

Medals Awarded in Contest at All Hallows College.

At the annual military drill at All Hallows college, Bert J. Carroll was awarded the gold medal for the best drilled cadet of companies A and B. Second honors were won by John Boyle and E. Griffin. In the junior company Richard Young was the successful contestant for the gold medal. The cadets are working hard for the final drill, which will take place next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

THE SAFE KEEPING OF VALUABLES

Many people read about Safe Deposit Vaults, but do not know exactly what they are. The officers of this company will be pleased at any time to have you call and make a personal inspection of our equipment for the safe keeping of valuables. $3.50 per year and upward.

SALT LAKE SECURITY AND TRUST CO.
32-34 MAIN ST.

CHILDREN CROWN BLESS'D VIRGIN

Beautiful and Impressive Services Are Held in St. Mary's Catholic Pro-Cathedral.

SCORES OF LITTLE ONES SINGING BY TOTS AN APPEALING FEATURE.

Beautifully impressive and to the last degree appealing were the services in St. Mary's Catholic pro-cathedral last evening when the coronation of the Blessed Virgin Mary took place. One hundred and twenty-five white-robed little girls were the chief participants in the ceremony. Twenty of these were only 2 years of age.

The company of little ones formed on the lawn of the Fred Wilson residence and marched to the cathedral, where, inside the church, the procession was continued. Fifty acolytes led the procession. Next came the cross bearers and six torch bearers. These were followed by the banner girls. The Very Rev. D. Kelly presided over the coronation. Mary O'Brien, who, with her maids of honor, led the line of girls. The pages were Lawrence Hughes and Joseph Putnam.

Act of Consecration.
Before the procession moved, the act of consecration to the Blessed Virgin was read by Eugene Mercier. Little Eugene's voice rang clear as a bell and sweet beyond description.

At the altar of the Virgin Mary a ladder, all in white, had been set. Up the steps of this ladder the tiny Miss O'Brien climbed unassisted. Reaching the top, she placed upon the head of the Blessed Virgin a magnificent crown of white roses. Down again she came, and then the little girls laid their offerings at the feet of the statue.

The singing of the little children was a feature of the services. Marguerite Locke, from the choir left, sang verses of the "Hail Mary." Responses were sung by the scores of little folk on the floor of the cathedral. St. Cecilia chorus sang splendidly.

Father Kiely's Sermon.
The Rev. Father Kiely preached a brief sermon. He spoke about the devotion of the little girls and boys to the Blessed Virgin. They honored her, he said, because she is the Mother of God.

The benediction of the blessed sacrament was pronounced by Father Kiely. Father, his priests and the altar boys sang the litany. Bishop Scanlan and the priests of the cathedral were in the sanctuary.

The children were in charge of Misses Martha Boltz, Ella Canping, Etha Collins, Genevieve Brooks, Elizabeth Fitz Gerald and Leona Schaubert.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

NEW WHITE HELMETS AND WHITE VESTS ARE WORRY OF SALT LAKE POLICEMEN

As if on dress parade, the Salt Lake police force appeared yesterday clad in its summer uniform. White helmets and spotless white vests now give the police a "finest" seen really worthy of the name.

The new white vests, however, that cover the expansive anterior of the protectors of the people, have their drawbacks. To be arrested by a handsomely caparisoned officer and escorted to the station in style is a source of great joy to some of the transgressors of the law, but the majority of the offenders resent the front of the natty attired policeman and find their joy in destroying the immaculate appearance of his vest. In a measure these attacks prove successful and the officers' greatest annoyance in scuffling with a prisoner is the necessity for protecting the cleanliness of this garment.

SCHOOL CADETS WILL WAGE WAR

Sham Battle Will Occur This Afternoon in Hills North of the City.

A sham battle will be fought this afternoon between two sections of the high school cadet corps on the mountains north of the city. Shortly after 1 o'clock p. m., Lester Moreton, the senior captain, with Lieutenant Bruce Wedgwood as his assistant, will lead one and a half companies, or three platoons, into the hills east of Warm Springs and south of Ensign peak. Half an hour later Captain M. Van Cott, with Captain E. Van Cott, will follow him with five platoons.

Moreton will, in the meantime, have had sufficient time to choose a position in which to place his men and to plan his fight with his subordinates. After the attacking party has found the defenders, it will have to dislodge them from their position, if possible, and get them into such a helpless state that further fighting will be useless. If the attacking army fails in this, it loses the fight, and if it succeeds, recall will be sounded and the cadets will return to camp with the assailants, victorious.

Officers to Be Judges.
The affair will be judged by several officers from the national guard who have agreed to try to determine how many would have been killed if the missiles were loaded with lead instead of with soap. They will decide the winners from the standpoint of military science, and not on the "rough house" abilities of the men after they come to close quarters. The defenders, although they have not so many means, have the advantage of more ammunition, and one of the great trials of the attacking party will be to make its ammunition last during the early part of the fight.

Ground Mapped Out.
The ground was mapped out yesterday by the commanders of the two parties, and the rules which were to be followed have been drawn up and given to the officers of the corps by Captain Webb. The limits were agreed upon by Moreton and Van Cott.

Keen for Battle.
All the boys of the school who are to take part in the battle are keen for the fight, and it is expected that great spirit will be shown. Never before has there been a battle except on the commencement at the close of the school year.

The fighting may be seen from the capitol hill grounds, and Warm Springs at about 3:20 this afternoon.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

Representatives of the Bell company last evening told the company that they had received further word from Park City, and that there was nothing at hand upon which to base a statement for publication.

SONS OF SOUTH MAY ORGANIZE

Plan On Foot to Institute Order of Young Men of Confederacy.

IDEA FINDS GREAT FAVOR WOULD TEND MORE FIRMLY TO CEMENT FRIENDSHIP.

A movement to cement more firmly in friendship and brotherhood the young men whose fathers fought one another in the great war of the states has begun in Salt Lake. In order that the memories of the breach between the north and south may be merged and the scars of the old war obliterated, it is proposed that the sons of the wearers of the blue and gray unite practically as one body in commemorating the deeds of the heroes on both sides.

The Sons of Veterans have organized in the city and will be mustered in within a week or two. It is now proposed that a camp of Sons of the Confederacy be also organized here. The two camps, it is proposed, shall hold open meetings together and unite in the observance of the holidays commemorative of the struggle of their fathers.

A number of sons of confederates have approved the scheme, and the Sons of Veterans have heartily approved the movement. In order that plans for perfecting the idea may be completed all the sons of confederate soldiers in Salt Lake are requested to send their names and addresses to Captain H. H. Sullivan, 404, Main street, Salt Lake, Utah.

Work in Harmony.
For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both organizations follow the military plan of their work, hold religious meetings in the streets and in halls, and take an active part in various kind of relief work.

For a time the two organizations were very much at odds, but gradually they came together and are now working in harmony in almost every city in the country. Both